

Dear members of the aerospace community

In behalf of General, Rodolfo Rodríguez Quezada, President of the Aerospace Fair Mexico (FAMEX 2019) receive cordial greetings, and according with the announce of Santa Lucía as the New Mexico City's International Airport, we inform you that:

The extraordinary event of Aerospace Fair Mexico FAMEX 2019, will continue to be held as it was already programmed and won't be affected in the slightest, taking place at the Air Force Base of Santa Lucía, Mexico, from April 24th, to April 27th, 2019.

Therefore, we thoroughly invite the national and international aeronautical community to participate both, actively and enthusiastically, in this great event that still has a 30 percent of spaces available for the promotion of your enterprises

Likewise, we are pleased to inform you that the Government of Canada has willingly accepted the distinction of being the Partner Country of FAMEX-2019 edition, announcing their participation with a Canadian pavilion where more than fifty companies of the aeronautical and aerospace sector will be included; as well as one CC-177 Globemaster and a CC130J Hercules of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

In addition, as an innovative aspect FAMEX-2019 will have an especial Pavilion targeted for enterprises from the automotive industry, that want to "migrate" to the aeronautical sector; and in order to facilitate such an initiative, there will be a Seminar where technical conferences will take place.

Also FAMEX-2019 will established a "Security Pavilion", where the most relevant companies in terms of security and armored protection services, will be found.

FAMEX 2019 will have the presence of more than 580 exhibitors along with multiple business meetings, an Aerospace Summit, an Aerospace Education Forum, a Technical Conferences Cycle, a Foreign Investment Seminar, and some other important events.

All of this is consolidating FAMEX as the main event of the Aerospace sector in Mexico and it is projected that will become the most important in Latin America for 2019.

I bid farewell to you all by sending a warm hug, reiterating that FAMEX-2019, will take place from April 24th, to April 27th, 2019, at Santa Lucía air Force Base, as it is programed.

Kind regards,

FAMEX Committee
